Gansu province preserves the most colorful and profound Chinese culture and tradition. Situated along the Silk Road, Gansu was an economically important province and a cultural transmission path in ancient China. The historic sites in Gansu, such as the Mogao Grottoes, the Jiayu pass of the Great wall, the Maijishan Caves, attract hundreds of thousands of visitors around the world every year.

Lanzhou, the hinterland of mainland China, where LZU is located, lies in the upper reaches of Yellow River, is an important city in northwest region. With its beautiful mountains and rivers, profound history and brilliant culture and multiple ethnic groups, it is a prior choice for university to thrive and talents to develop.

Founded in 1909, Lanzhou University is one of China's oldest institutions of higher learning. Since then, it has always been recognized as one of northwestern China's premier universities.
